2025 Performance Review

From acquisition volume to conversion efficiency, engagement and customer experience

Presented by LACHHEB Karima

2025: conversion resilience, but a sharp decline in reach

The year maintained overall conversion performance while social-media volume contracted substantially.

WHAT CHANGES

- Conversion stayed broadly stable despite much lower traffic, indicating that the remaining audience still converted at a similar annual rate.
- Customer feedback remained generally positive, but the 3.66 average rating leaves a clear gap versus a 4.0 target.
- Traffic weakened through most of the year: monthly views fell from 168K in January to 46K in September, before a modest Q4 recovery.
- The strongest conversion products in 2025 shifted toward Hockey Stick, Climbing Rope, Surfboard and Cycling Helmet.

Conversion remained stable — but performance was highly seasonal

Annual conversion reached 8.55%, with a wide monthly spread between the weakest and strongest periods.

WHAT CHANGES

- March and September were the clearest conversion peaks.
- July fell to 2.94%, showing a major mid-year weakness.
- December rebounded to 12.82%, closing the year strongly.
- The priority is to reproduce peak-month conditions in weaker periods.

A small group of products led 2025 conversion

The product mix reveals clear candidates for promotion, merchandising and campaign prioritization.

TOP PRODUCT CONVERSION

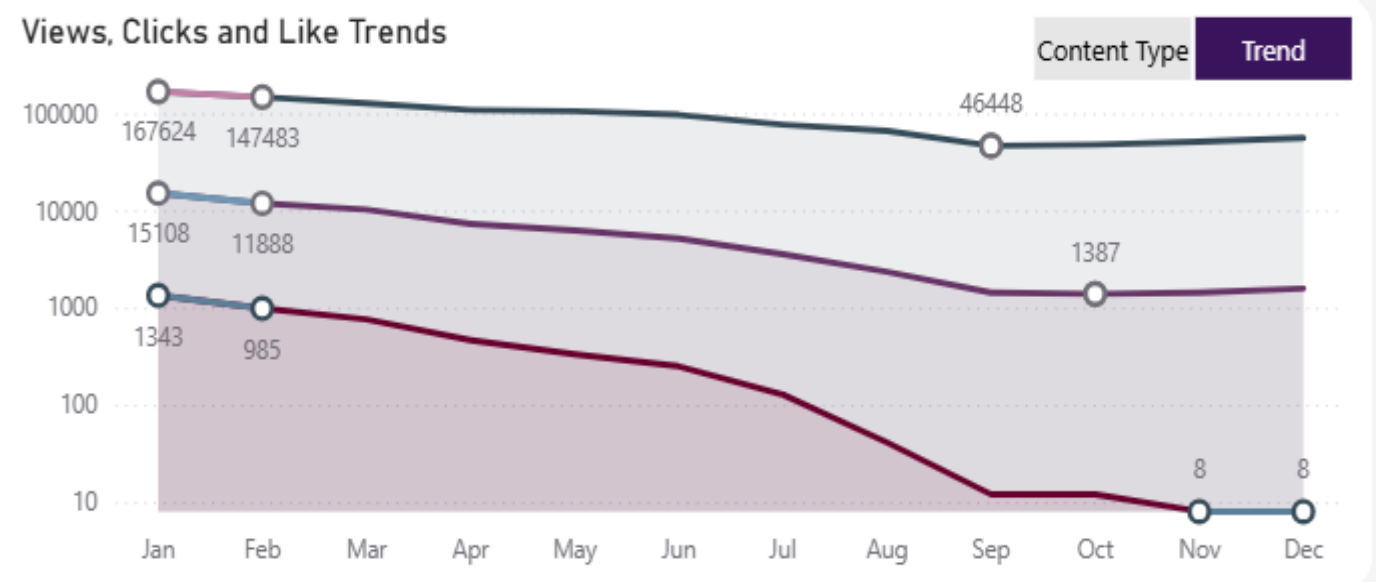

ACTIONABLE TAKEWAY

Prioritize high-converting and highly rated products in paid campaigns and seasonal promotions, then test whether their success can be replicated across weaker products.

Reach contracted sharply — and the decline persisted into Q3

2025 generated 1.10M views, but interaction volume was materially lower than in 2024.

VIEWS	CLICKS	LIKES	CLICK / VIEW
1,096,704	67,632	4,342	6.17%
−63.2% YoY	−85.2% YoY	−94.1% YoY	vs 15.37% in 2024

WHAT CHANGED

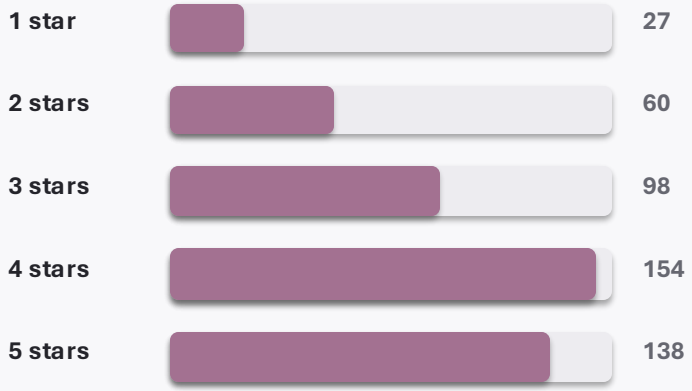

- Views dropped from 168K in January to 46K in September.
- Q4 recovered modestly: 48K → 51K → 56K views.
- Clicks represented 6.17% of views; likes represented only 0.40%.
- The priority is to rebuild reach while improving content-to-action efficiency.

Customer sentiment was positive with room to raise the rating

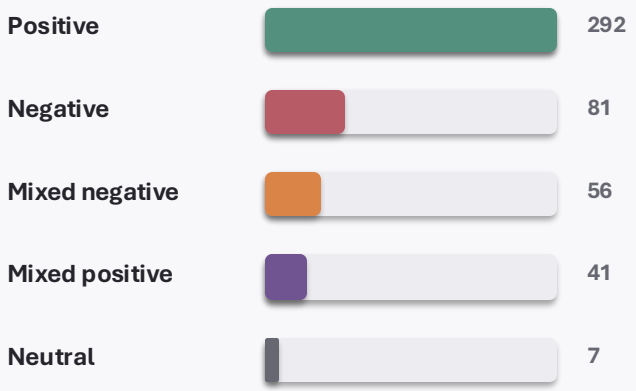

The 2025 review base was positive overall, but mixed and negative feedback identifies an improvement opportunity.

AVERAGE RATING	POSITIVE REVIEWS	NEGATIVE + MIXED	4–5 STAR REVIEWS

SENTIMENT MIX

Turn 2025 signals into a focused 2026 action plan

The dashboard points to three priorities: recover reach, stabilize conversion, and lift customer satisfaction.

01 REBUILD REACH

- Diagnose the sustained decline in monthly views.
- Refresh content formats and distribution cadence.
- Strengthen calls-to-action and audience targeting.
- Use Q4 recovery as a base for scaling.

02 SCALE CONVERSION

- Replicate peak-month tactics from March, September and December.
- Prioritize Hockey Stick, Climbing Rope and Surfboard.
- Use seasonal offers around proven demand windows.
- Monitor product-level conversion weekly.

03 LIFT EXPERIENCE

- Target the 3.66 average rating toward 4.0+.
- Investigate recurring mixed/negative review themes.
- Close the feedback loop with product and support teams.
- Track rating movement by product and month.
